

Key activities

What are the key steps to move ahead to your customers?

running
aggressive
marketing
campaign

building new ticket
reservations
system

building
simulations
engine to test
new connections
according to the
connection plan

introduce
company
support
procedures

build group
tickets
reservation
system

improve
onboarding

Business Goals

How is the product going to benefit the company?
What are the business goals?

target:
increase
sales by 5%

initial: onboard 1000 new
individual
customers to
the new system

initial: sell
first 100
company
group tickets

target:
introduce at
least 5 new connections
every year

target:
onboard all
individual
users to the new system

target: sell at least 1000
company
tickets each
month

Product

What product is it?
What makes it stand out?
Is it feasible to develop the product?

improved
ticket selling,
planning and
management
system

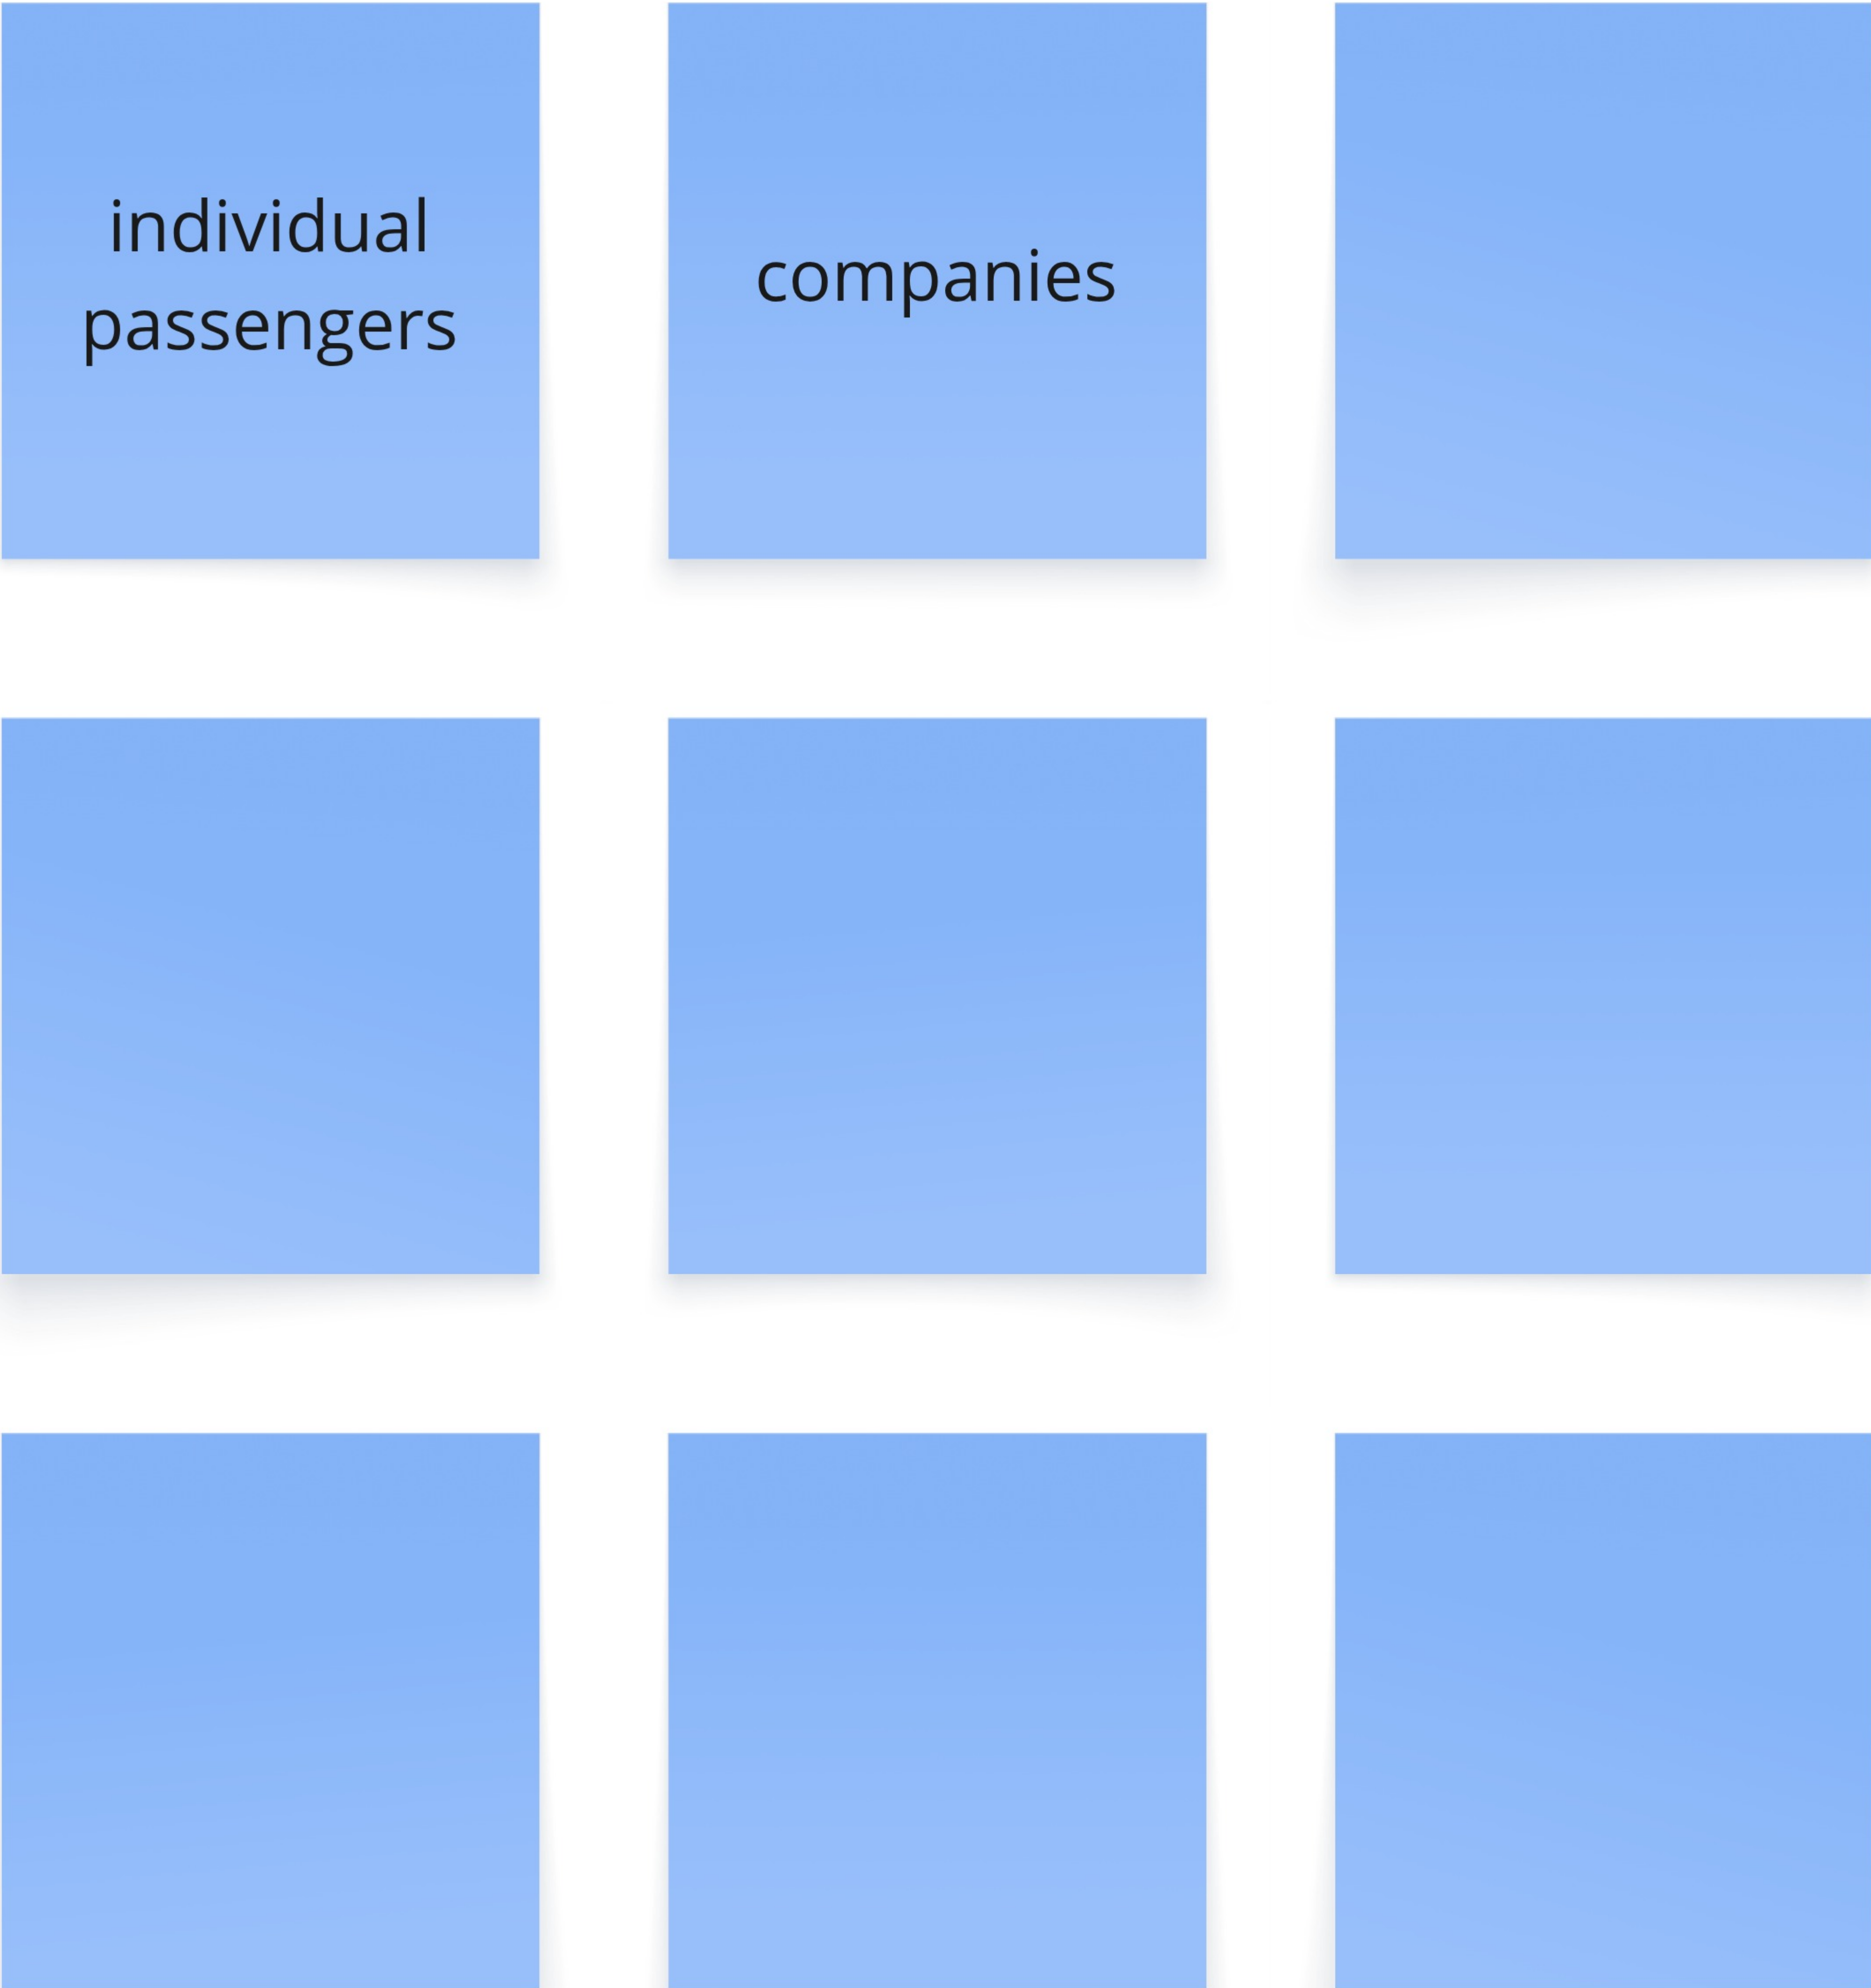

planning
entire
journey
feature

handling both
individuals
and
companies

support for introducing new connections and
running
simulations

Target Group

Which market or market segment does the product address?
Who are the target customers and users?

Vision

What is your motivation for creating the product?
Which positive change should it bring about?

Our current solution is a nightmare to use. Let's reimagine the user experience.

Needs

Which problem does the product solve?

What benefit does it provide?

reserving tickets
is cumbersome:
the same ticket is
sometimes sold
multiple times

group tickets
is impossible
to manage

no support for promotions or
ticket capacity
planning and
management

make tickets
system
bulletproof and
avoid selling the
same ticket
multiple times

no train
delay
notifications

it's hard to find a new
connection

connections
are often
not available

support
companies
and group
tickets

introducing
new
connections
is a mess